DO YOU WANT YOUR VOICE TO MATTER?

Interested but want to know more about Action Research?

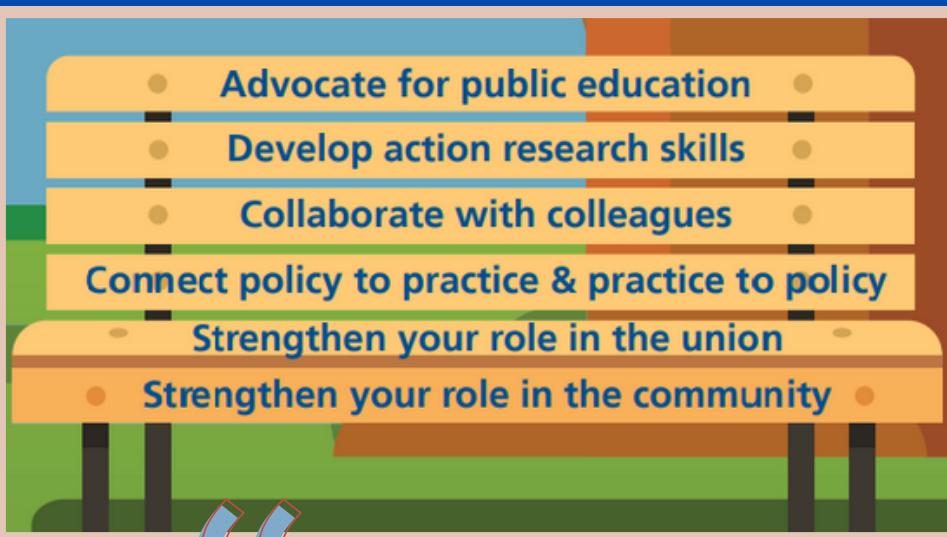

Policy affects everything we do as educators. Policy at the building level, district level, state level, and federal level.

Your Action Research will focus on a policy that you believe can be better, and you will propose a path to make it better.

Your Action Research Paper will have:

- Title/Topic
- Research Question
- Background/Rationale
- Literature Review
- Design/Tools/Process
- Data Analysis
- Implications/Recommendations
- Bibliography/References

Doing Action research can be intimidating. Don't worry! Our primary focus is on Collective Collaboration and will provide every support you need to be successful!

"Teacher ownership...recognizes that those responsible for change must have a voice in creating and directing that change..."

~Getting To Teacher Ownership, Annenberg Institute

Why Teachers Like To Do Action Research

- Invigorates my teaching
- Focuses my practice
- Gives me hard data
- Helps me assess my practice
- Creates new knowledge and skills for me as well as my students
- Proves an opportunity to affect school-level and systemwide policy through classroom exploration
- Enables me to disseminate internationally via the web
- Gets my research cited
- Useful in obtaining school grants
- Gives other teachers ideas
- Informs the practice of others
- A systematic way to examine my teaching practices and their effects on my students
- Contributes practical, theoretically based knowledge to the field
- Empowers Teachers & Develops Leaders
